

Opioid Prescribing in Long-Term Pain: Clinical Considerations in a Time of Policy Change

Stefan Kertesz, MD

Professor, UAB Divisions of Preventive Medicine and General
Internal Medicine

New England Journal of Medicine:

Study finds that beta blockers do not prevent COPD exacerbations, and calls for further investigation of overall risk-benefit of beta-blockers in patients with COPD and cardiac indications.

Mark Dransfield, MD

Professor, Pulmonary Allergy and Critical Care

New Faculty Spotlight:
KeAndrea Titer, MD

Dr. Titer practices as an attending on the Tinsley Harrison Service and as a hospitalist. She also serves as Assistant Director for Diversity and Inclusion in the IM Residency Program.

KeAndrea Titer, MD

Assistant Professor, General Internal Medicine

“Chromosomes to Communities” Symposium Draws 300 to UAB

Center Directors: Cynthia Brown, MD, MSPH (Integrative Center for Aging Research), Steve Austad, PhD (Nathan Shock Center), Ronald Lazar, PhD (Evelyn McKnight Brain Institute), and Erik Roberson, MD (Alzheimer’s Disease Center)

The Comprehensive Cardiovascular Center Receives Full University-Wide Interdisciplinary Research Center Status

Sumanth Prabhu, MD

Professor and Director, Cardiovascular Disease

Naramore,
Schwalbach Present
Research at the American College of Chest Physicians Conference

Rachel Naramore, MD
PGY-3

Kevin Schwalbach, MD
PGY-3

Department of Medicine Celebrates #UAB50 at Homecoming Parade!

Kinases Regulate Cardiac Function:

Paper in Circulation and New
RO1 Grant From the NHLBI

Hind Lal, PhD

Associate Professor, Cardiovascular Disease

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Announce $1.2 Million in New Funding to Learn More About Sickle Cell Patients

Julie Kanter, MD

Associate Professor, Hematology and Oncology

Cimino Receives Award of Excellence from the American College of Medical Informatics

James Cimino, MD
Professor, General Internal Medicine

Medical Grand Rounds

Annual Compliance Lecture

Compliance 2019: You Have One Job!

Wednesday,
October 30, 2019

12:00 P.M. in
Margaret Cameron
Spain Auditorium

Stephen Stair, MD
HSF Medical Compliance Officer

Brian Bates, CPA
UAB Medicine Chief
Compliance Officer